

Sponsored Research Basics

Karen Woodward Massey
FAS Research
Administration Services
kwmassey@fas.harvard.edu

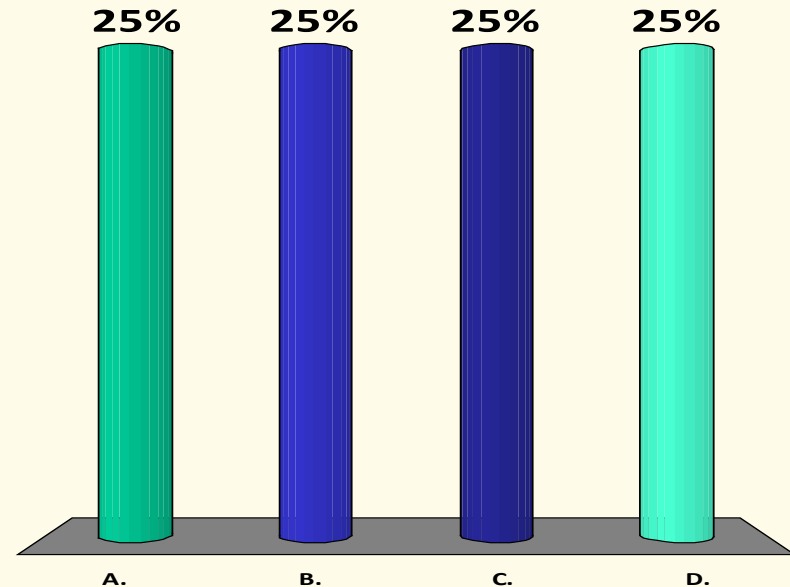

Rick McCullough, Vice Provost for Research

Importance of knowing grant terms and conditions.

Before preparing a grant proposal, the most valuable thing to do is...

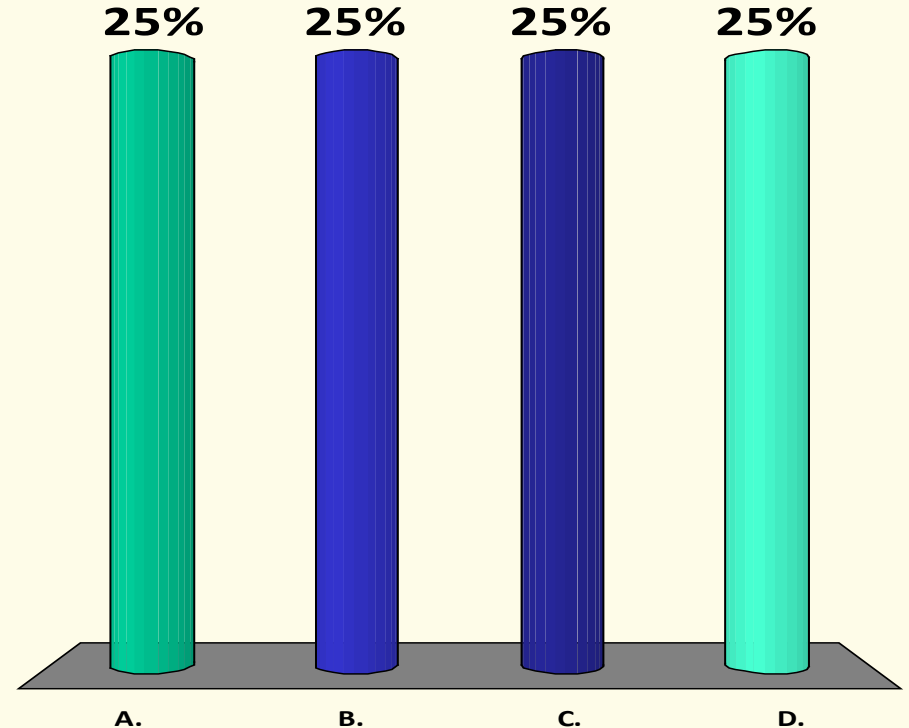

- A. Review the projects the sponsor funded in the past
- B. Contact your research administrator
- C. Run the idea by the sponsor's program officer
- D. Other

Do you know who can help you with proposal submissions?

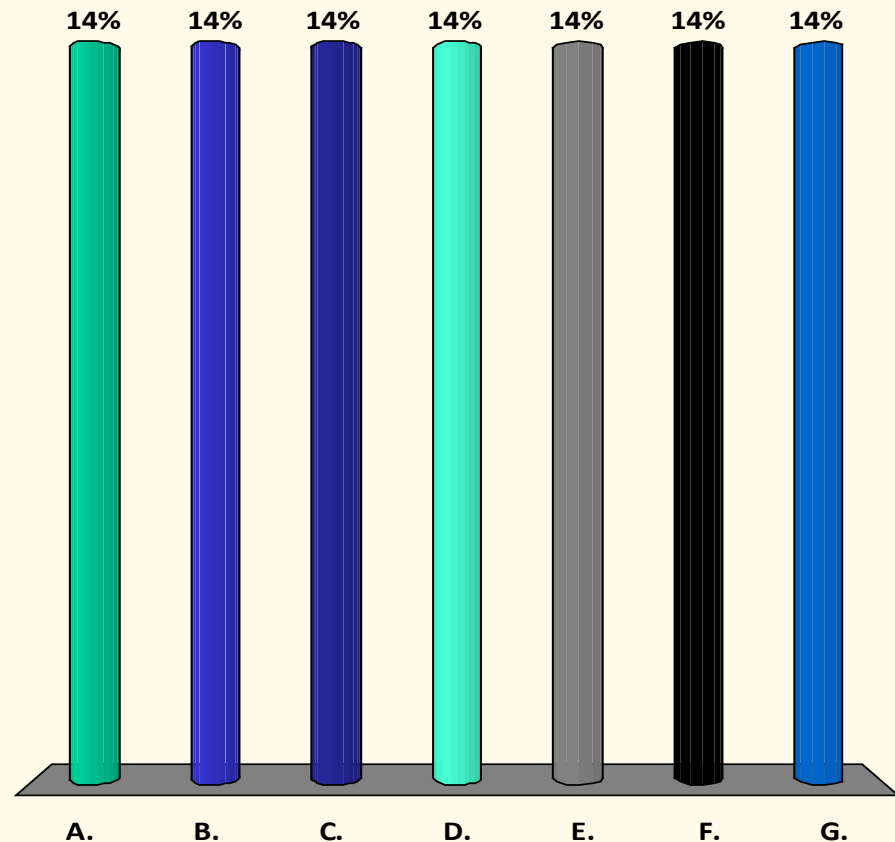

- A. Yes
- B. No
- C. I have an idea but need clarification
- D. No one

In the past year, I have worked on this many proposals

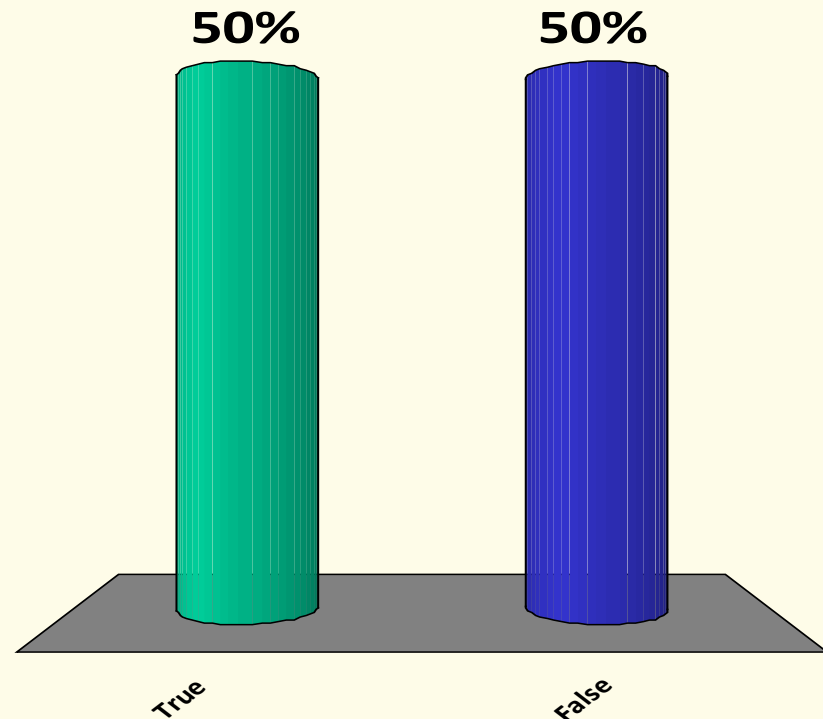

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3
- E. 4
- F. 5-9
- G. Over ten

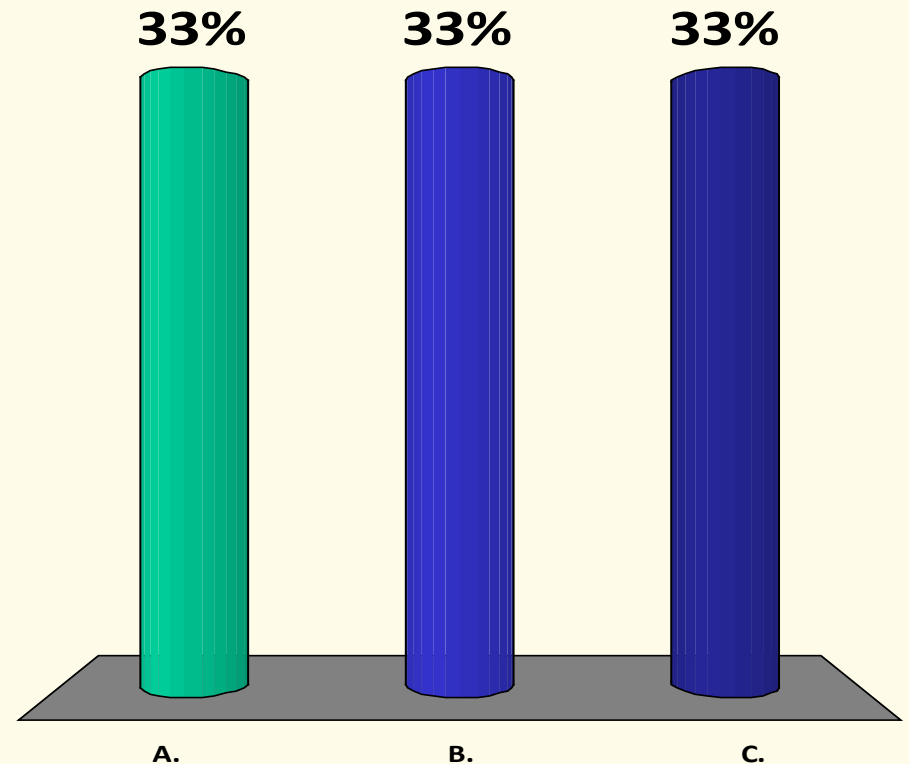

Principal Investigators are in charge of technical and financial aspects of projects.

- A. True
- B. False
- C. Need more info

Laptops should not be charged directly to university grants.

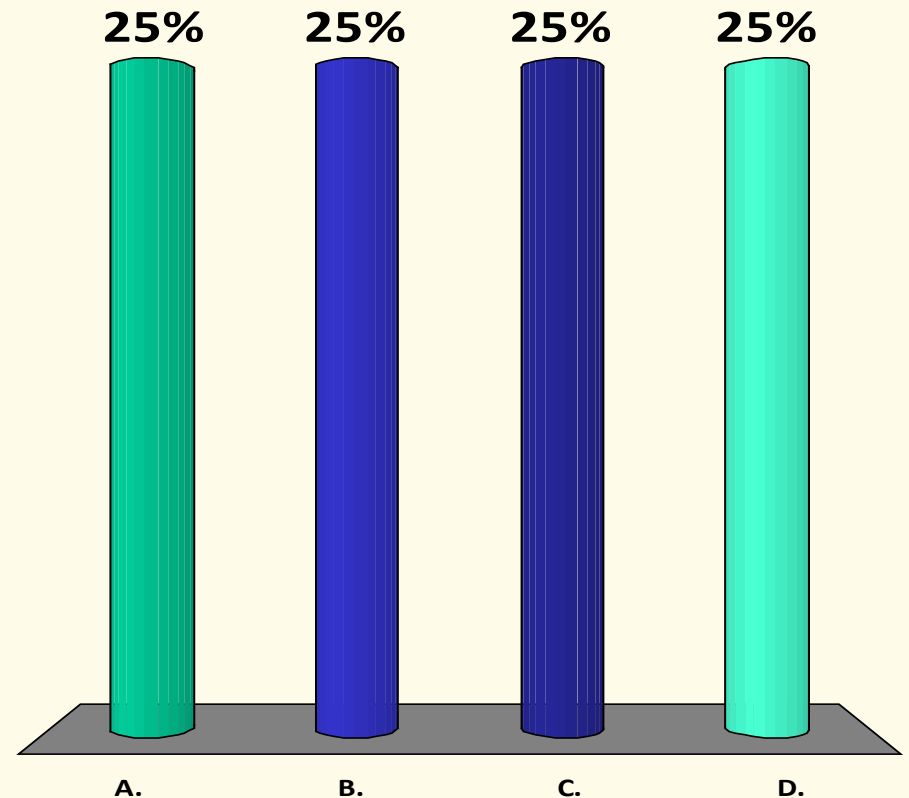

- A. True
- B. False
- C. Need more info.

The most valuable thing to do when submitting a grant proposal is...

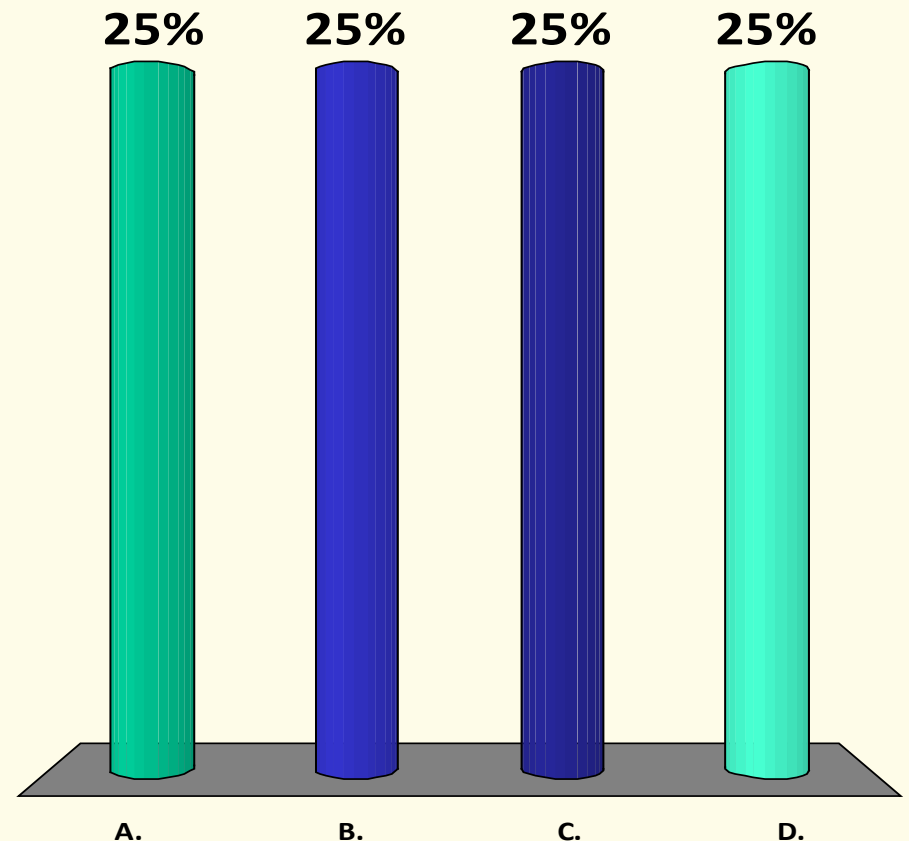

- A. Read the proposal instructions
- B. Submit via your institution
- C. Get an administrator to help with budget
- D. Give yourself more time than you think you will need
- E. Make a checklist of who will do what by when

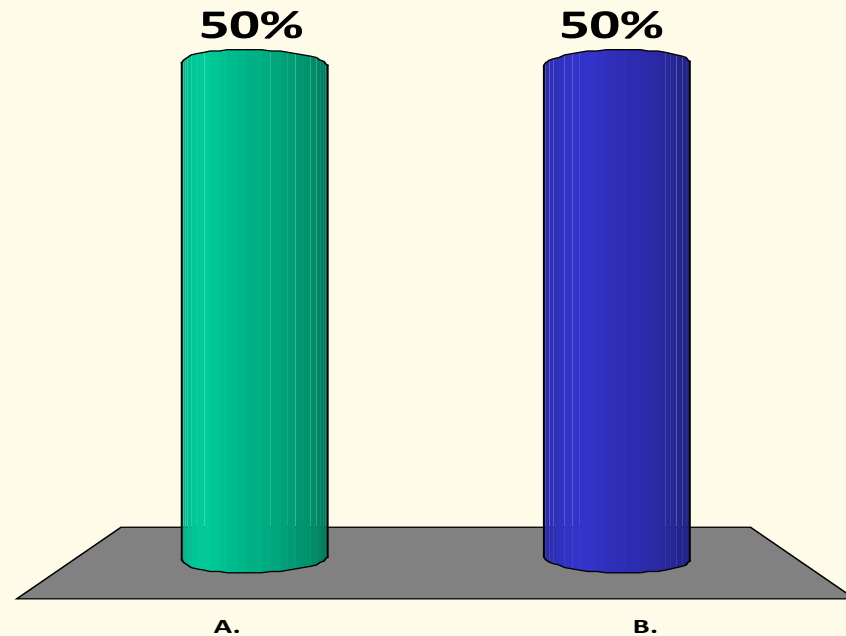

The most valuable thing to do when a grant is awarded is...

- A. Tell my administrator
- B. Read the award letter
- C. Start work right away
- D. Need more info...

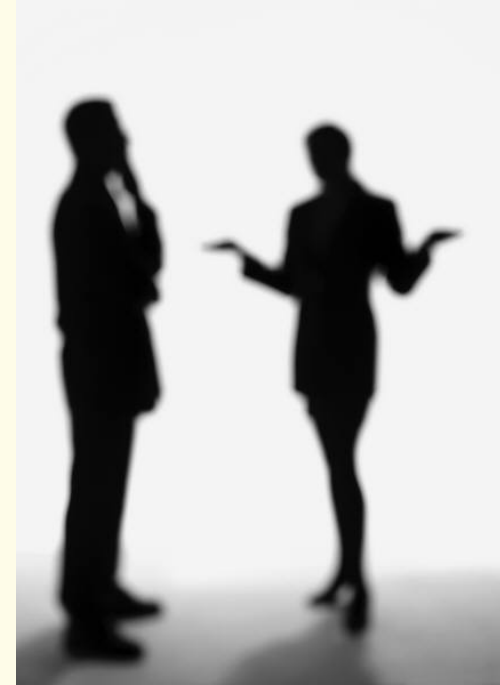

Federal Cost Principles state that anything charged directly to a grant must be allocable, allowable, reasonable, and consistently treated.

- A. True
- B. False
- C. What?

Most Important..

When in Doubt, Ask a Grants Administrator!

(It'll save you time in the long run!)

If All Else Fails...

- University Ombudsman - an independent, neutral and confidential place to discuss academic and workplace issues and concerns
- University Compliance Website - 24/7 and anonymous